Jacqueline Smith - Race to Freedom Conference

When it comes to finding your voice, telling your story and stepping into your next level, Altovise Pelzer is the 'Drop The Mic Queen'! During a three week intensive, I spoke at a women's event and was able to rock it out because of her teachings. Her leadership is powerful, but easy to absorb. She makes sure you get all that you need.

BIO

Equipping women to Define, Accept and Use their Unique Voice after abuse. Altovise Pelzer moved to Maryland from Philadelphia, PA. She is a best-selling author, keynote speaker, telesummit strategist, founder of the online Your Voice & Reactivate Me Communities, VIP live streamer and head script writer for Breaking Free International. As a mom of four, she has been known to break out into impromptu dance parties or karaoke moments with her three girls or watch WWE or movies with her son.

Homelessness and molestation greatly affected Altovise's decision to motivate women and youth to find their unique voice. It is her mission to make it possible for women to speak, create their own opportunities and walk in their Unique Purpose. Women after abuse go through numerous self harming actions that start with a seed of low self esteem. We know that there is no "one size fits all" solution for helping women who have gone through abuse. Through ecourses, live events, books and social media Altovise wants to touch and transform the lives of women globally one woman at a time.
