

Sonja Keeve

Inspirational Speaker and Author

Sometimes in the midst of quietness, you discover your purpose.

Sonja Keeve is an author, inspirational speaker, and entrepreneur. As a wife, mother, mentor and leader in her community, her passion lies in inspiring young ladies and women to fulfill their dreams every day! As a professional in the mortgage industry, she dedicates her time to building strategic relationships with loan officers and clients offering solutions to home ownership. Sonja is the CEO and founder of the Walk in Love 2 Creations where they specialize in clothing apparel for men, women and children. She is also a published author in the anthology, Women Inspiring Nations. As a proud graduate of Strayer University, she earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting and her Executive MBA from the Jack Welch Management Institute. Sonja continues to use her gifts to encourage others and to have a positive impact on the lives she touches every day. For her own children, she teaches this motto: You must see yourself successful before you can ever be successful.
